When you first pull your down out of the box, you can toss it in the dryer to help it fully loft. The international down and feather laboratory actually suggests tossing in some tennis balls and a wrung-out damp washcloth. When pulling it out of the stuffsac in the field, grab it by the drawcord channel at the top edge of the quilt and shake it vigorously for a min to re-fluff the loft.

There is an optional tie-off point just above the knees to extend the footbox several inches higher if you wish. There is also a neck snap to secure the top of the quilt around your neck.
